

Suburban Mobilities Cluster Authorship Policy

The Suburban Mobilities Cluster will apply the definition of authorship as provided by the International Committee of Medical Journal Editors (ICMJE). Authorship is only conferred to an individual if they have contributed in all four of the following ways:

1. Substantial contributions to the conception or design of the work; or the acquisition, analysis, or interpretation of data for the work; AND
2. Drafting the work or revising it critically for important intellectual content; AND
3. Final approval of the version to be published; AND
4. Agreement to be accountable for all aspects of the work in ensuring that questions related to the accuracy or integrity of any part of the work are appropriately investigated and resolved.

The guidelines also dictate that all individuals who satisfy these four criteria must be included as authors. All authors should be involved in the writing and/or critical review of the manuscript pre-submission and should be involved in the peer-review process post-submission. All authors should approve the final manuscript before it is submitted for publication.

For research projects involving the use of the Scarborough Survey, Drs. Steven Farber and Ignacio Tiznado-Aitken will be invited to join as co-authors considering their contributions to survey design and data collection. They will review and comment on any draft before going out for publication. For each research project, it will be at the discretion of the authorship team whether Drs. Farber and Tiznado-Aitken will be invited to participate more fulsomely in defining research questions and advising on methods, among other forms of involvement over and above those required above.
